Mission and Vision

Mission

What does a mission statement do?
A mission statement is a clear definition of the present state and purpose of an organization. WHAT do we do? WHO do we do it for? And, HOW do we do it? Ask yourself how your personal mission fits in to that of Service Credit Union. If you were a superhero what would you stand for? What superpowers would you have? Who would you seek out to save?

Our Mission Statement
Doing what is right for our members by:

• Improving financial well-being,
• Supporting communities we serve, and
• Creating value and enduring relationships.

Vision

What does a vision statement do?
A vision statement reflects where an organization would like to be, what it would like to achieve over time. If the organization had three wishes, what would they be and how would they guide us into the future? What would yours be?

Our Vision Statement
Utilizing the cooperative principles, we will be a trusted partner providing services and resources that optimize the financial well-being of our members while contributing to the communities in which they work and live.
Communication

Nomenclature

Service Federal Credit Union (dba Service Credit Union) shall be referred to as Service Credit Union or Service CU in member-facing communications and marketing; with the exception of legal forms. The use of SCU or SFCU is not permitted except in marketing disclosures. The name Service Federal Credit Union is to appear in all contracts and legally binding documents, including vendor documents.

Writing Style

It is important that all of our credit unions’ communications efforts reflect Service CU’s commitment to our mission and our long-term commitment to help our members achieve their financial goals. Service must convey these commitments through responsible and consistent messages, advertising and communications which promotes helping people achieve their financial goals and dreams.

• All communications must be honest, truthful and not misleading. We’re here to create a member centric experience and deliver exceptional service.
• Our communications should highlight positive social behavior and strong values, such as kindness, honesty, empathy, generosity and respect for others, while conveying our financial expertise.
• Communications should not mislead or convey benefits that are not offered by the credit union.
• We fully listen and communicate how we understand the needs of the member. Consider our members when communicating changes that may have an impact on them.
• Written material must be of the highest quality. Writers should exercise great care to proofread copy and check for errors in spelling, grammar and punctuation. Our proofing process should always be followed.
• Writers should speak in one voice, present information clearly and communicate precisely the messages of the credit union.
• Writers should consider how the message might be perceived if taken out of context. In the age of digital communications, writers should take the time to read every sentence carefully and ensure we are consistent in tone and message.
• Most importantly, writers should consider how the communication will reflect on Service CU. If there is a Service CU logo attached, it is Service. You are representing the credit union and must ensure your message is reflective of our voice, personality and mission.
Communication

Voice

Voice is what we say and how we say it. That's how people know who we are as individuals and the personality of Service CU. Because everything published online, in print or in social media under the Service name is a reflection of our credit union. Consistency of voice is vital. Write carefully, research thoroughly, select words and phrases exactly, and proofread meticulously.

- Our voice is confident, direct and thoughtful. Think about your idea and strive to communicate it as clearly as possible with the member in mind. Write from your heart, then wordsmith.
- The tone is both intelligent and accessible. Use concise sentences to convey complex ideas. Make every word count.
- Be simple and visual. Choose words with action and impact.
- Our personality is determined. We get things done in the right way. We support each other. We value family, community, loyalty and ethics. We are winners. We are innovative, passionate, trusting, resourceful, optimistic, collaborative, driven and visionary. Everything we do is for the member.
- Demonstrate impact. Why does the credit union matter? What do we do that tells the whole story; illustrate where an experience leads.
- Use present tense. Create the sense of being in the midst of ongoing insights and discoveries. Reference facts and history – create a continuum, carrying the reference through to present and future.

- Be specific. Use examples that are uniquely Service CU and evoke a sense of pride, exceptional service and building needs-based member services and relationships.
- Be clear about why us, why now. When defining why us, review our mission. Are we supporting the community? Improving financial well being? Creating a unique and valued relationship? Ask these questions when communicating internally or to our members and the public.
  - Why are we doing this? What is the need and context?
  - Why Service CU? Why and how are we uniquely suited for this initiative?
  - What is the impact? How will this make a difference?
- Be engaging. Speak directly with the reader and use inclusive language (“you,” “us”) when the goal of the communication is to prompt action or inform. Recognize the reader as part of Service CU and the community we serve. Understand our compassion for each other and our members.
- Be creative. Consider how best to tell a story or share information. Draw an unexpected comparison, consider multiple viewpoints and use different mediums for storytelling.
- Be authentic. Above all, our communications must be true to the credit union – in fact, tone and in spirit.
Photography

General Use

We aim to incorporate photos that catch someone in a moment and relate to concept and feeling as opposed to product. That unexpected snapshot in time of improving our community, the moment where a relationship with a member shines or those times where members are proud of their financial well-being. Imagery chosen for the website should follow our basic photo guidelines which include:

• No looking at the camera
• No posed photos – must be in the moment
• Photos should feel fluid/comfortable – a snapshot, not a portrait session
• Images should be current in both setting and attire

Quality/composition – Composition and quality of image can have a substantial effect on the overall experience, through digital, print or other channels. Poorly composed images can make the viewer feel off balance and do not portray comfort, but rather unease. Higher quality images provide a crisp visual without grain or blur.
